

Fee Collection Schedule – 21st Century No Bust Blackjack

Table Schedule 1

21st Century No Bust Blackjack Collection Fees

$2 Minimum Wager — $150 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $50.00 (ie. $2 - $50) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $0.50

Player Wagers up to $100.00 (ie $51 - $100) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $1.00

Player Wagers up to $150.00 (ie $101 - $150) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $1.50

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 1.00

Table Schedule 2

21st Century No Bust Blackjack Collection Fees

$5 Minimum Wager — $150 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $50.00 (ie $5 - $50) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $0.50

Player Wagers up to $100.00 (ie $51 - $100) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $1.00

Player Wagers up to $150.00 (ie $101 - $150) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $1.50

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 1.50

Table Schedule 3

21st Century No Bust Blackjack Collection Fees

$10 Minimum Wager — $300 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $100.00 (ie $10 - $100) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $1.00

Player Wagers up to $200.00 (ie $101 - $200) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $2.00

Player Wagers up to $300.00 (ie $201 - $300) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $3.00

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 2.00

Table Schedule 4

21st Century No Bust Blackjack Collection Fees

$25 Minimum Wager --- $2,000 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $500.00 (ie $25 - $500) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $5.00

Player Wagers up to $1,000.00 (ie $501 - $1,000) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $10.00

Player Wagers up to $2,000.00 (ie $1,001 - $2,000) per wager circle; Collection Fee is $20.00

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 10.00

Fee Collection Schedule – Pai Gow Poker

Table Schedule 1

Pai Gow Poker Collection Fees

$5 Minimum Wager — $150 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $50.00 (ie $5 - $50) per wager square; Collection Fee is $0.50

Player Wagers up to $100.00 (ie $51 - $100) per wager square; Collection Fee is $1.00

Player Wagers up to $150.00 (ie $101 - $150) per wager square; Collection Fee is $1.50

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 1.00

Table Schedule 2

Pai Gow Poker Collection Fees

$10 Minimum Wager --- $300 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $100.00 (ie $10 - $100) per wager square; Collection Fee is $1.00

Player Wagers up to $200.00 (ie $101 - $200) per wager square; Collection Fee is $2.00

Player Wagers up to $300.00 (ie $201 - $300) per wager square; Collection Fee is $3.00

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 2.00

Table Schedule 3

Pai Gow Poker Collection Fees

$25 Minimum Wager --- $2,000 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $200.00 (ie $25 - $200) per wager square; Collection Fee is $2.00

Player Wagers up to $500.00 (ie $201 - $500) per wager square; Collection Fee is $4.00

Player Wagers up to $2,000.00 (ie $501 - $2,000) per wager square; Collection Fee is $10.00

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 4.00

Table Schedule 4

Pai Gow Poker Collection Fees

$100 Minimum Wager --- $10,000 Maximum Wager

Player Wagers up to $1,000.00 (ie $100 - $1,000) per wager square; Collection Fee is $8.00

Player Wagers up to $5,000.00 (ie $1,001 - $5,000) per wager square; Collection Fee is $25.00

Player Wagers up to $10,000.00 (ie $5,001 - $10,000) per wager square; Collection Fee is $50.00

Player/Dealer; Collection Fee is 25.00

Thank you for your assistance in this matter. Please do not hesitate to call if you need further information.

Sincerely,

Sue Barrows

Owner, Gold Rush Gaming Parlor and Saloon

GOLD RUSH GAMING PARLOR

Card Room, Gaming Room and Bar

106 East Main Street

Grass Valley, California 95945

(530) GRPOKER · (530) 477-6537

GAME RULES

The Gold Rush Casino offers what may be the most extensive list of american poker games in any card club in the state of California. The games are chosen by the players in what is called "Players Choice" games. The theoretical dealer chooses the game when the "Dealer Button" is awarded at the beginning of the game. Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button and picks the game to be played from the following list. The game chosen is played until the dealer button had made a complete round of the table and arrives at the player to the left of the player that picked the game. Each player in turn can change the game for another complete round of the table. The player that picked the game may change the game played one time during the round.

The Gold Rush Casino posts a list of suggested wagering amounts and structure for the games played each day of operation.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

Pineapple/Omaha/Stud etc.

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Hold'em

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

Cards used: Standard 52 card deck (on Player's Choice games the joker may be added and plays as an Ace, or a card that completes a straight or flush (it becomes the highest ranking card possible or the lowest possible card to complete a low hand in lowball or low in high/low split.)

Winning event: In all american poker games the best five card poker hand wins in high games and the lowest five cards for lowball and the low in high/low split, straights and flushes are not considered when determining the low hand with A,2,3,4,5 being the lowest possible hand. Beginning with the first active player to the left of the "dealer button" each active player in turn exposes all of the cards in his/her hand, the pot (or side pot) is awarded to the player or players with the best hand. In the case of a tie the chips are evenly split and in the event there is an odd number of chips players to the left of the button are awarded the extra chips. When splitting high/low pots odd chips go to the high hands.

Betting Structure: Flop games: The first betting round players may call the amount of the largest blind bet or raise the minimum of the blind or the lowest limit in structured games, i.e. if the blind is $2 and the limits are $4/$8 then the player has the option to call with $2 or raise the bet by $4, putting $6 in the pot. After the flop the lowest bet in structured games. On the turn (fourth up card) and the river (fifth up card) the highest limit is used. In the case of spread limit games, i.e. $2 to $5 at any time, a raise must be at least the amount of the last bet up to the top limit.

Draw games: The lower of the structured limit before the draw and the higher limit after the draw. In spread limit games, i.e. $2 to $10 before the draw and $2 to $20 after the draw a raise must be at least the amount of the previous bet up to the highest limit above the previous bet.

GAMES: offered for play at Gold Rush Casino.

Draw Poker (5 card) a.k.a. California Draw

The first and sometimes second player to the left of the Button are required to post a blind bet, the amount and number of blinds predetermined by the players before starting the game. The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand, call the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a predetermined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then placed on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush. The best five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

Draw Poker (5 Card) High-Low Split

The rules for High-Low Split are the same as California Draw except that the best high hand and the best low hand split the pot. The rules for low are the same as California Lowball. A low straight or flush can be counted both for the high and low ends of the pot.

5 Card Stud

Selection of the theoretical "dealer" and blind posting is the same as in draw poker. The first round of betting starts to the left of the largest blind after each player has been dealt one down card and one up card. When the betting is complete each player receives a second up card. On the second, third and fourth round the player with the highest exposed hand begins the action that continues to that players left. After each round of betting another up card is dealt. The final round of betting is when no player calls a bet or when each player still competing for the pot has 5 cards. At the conclusion of the betting the player that made the last bet and was called exposes the down card, each player in turn exposes their down card or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Asian Stud

Played with a 32-card deck, the 2s, 3s, 4s, 5s, and 6s are removed; it is played the same as 5-card stud. A difference in the rank of poker hands due to the stripped deck a flush is ranked higher than a full house because of the change in odds.

Seven Card Poker a.k.a. 3-2-1-1 or 32 Eleven

Selection of the theoretical "dealer" and blind posting is the same as in draw poker. The dealer deals three rounds of down cards to each player starting to the left of the dealer button. The first round of betting starts to the left of the largest blind when the betting is complete the dealer deals two cards at a time to each player in turn. The second round of betting starts to the left of the dealer button, when the betting is complete the dealer deals one card to each player, another round of betting then the last (seventh) card is dealt to each player and the last round of betting begins. When the final bets are made and called each player still competing for the pot, in order from the last better, exposes the hand. The dealer determines the best high hand and the best low hand and splits the pot between those hands. If more than one player has the same high or low hand the portion of the pot they have qualified for is split between them. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

Seven Card Stud

Selection of the theoretical "dealer" and blind posting is the same as in draw poker. The dealer deals two rounds of down cards and one up card to each player starting to the left of the dealer button. The first round of betting starts to the left of the largest blind, the second round of betting when the second up card is dealt, a third round with the third up card, a fourth round with the fourth up card. The seventh card is dealt face down and the last round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting the player that made the last bet and was called exposes the down cards, each player in turn exposes their down card or mucks (surrenders) the hand. The dealer determines the best poker hand and awards the pot to the winner or winners. In a structured limit game the lower betting limit is used for the first two rounds unless on the second round if any player has an exposed pair the higher limit MAY be used in a bet or raise.

Seven Card Stud w/joker

This game is the same as seven-card stud except that a joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split,

This game is the same as seven-card stud except that the pot is split between the player with the highest and the player with the lowest poker hands. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round.

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split w/joker

This game is the same as seven-card stud hi lo split except that a joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split/8

This game is the same as seven-card stud hi lo split except that in order to qualify for a low hand the highest of the five low cards must be below a 9 with no pairs. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round.

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Sweepers

This game is the same as seven card stud hi lo split except that if a player has a jack high straight or better in order to qualify for a low hand the hi-hest of the five low card must be below a 9 with no pairs. If a player has an eight or better low hand the high hand must be a jack high straight or better, else the low hand sweeps the entire pot. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split/8 w/joker

This game is the same as seven-card stud hi lo split except that in order to qualify for a low hand the highest of the five low cards must be below a 9 with no pairs. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

Razz a.k.a. Seven-Card Stud Low only

This game is the same as seven card stud except that the pot is awarded to the player with the lowest poker hand. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round. If a joker is used it is the lowest card that is not in the hand.

Lowball (A to 5 Draw) a.k.a. California Lowball

Dealing and betting structures are the same as in 5-card draw except that the pot is awarded to the player with the lowest poker hand. A player with a seven or better must bet the hand in turn or forfeit all after the draw action. Check and raise is not permitted.

Lowball (2-7 Draw) a.k.a. Kansas City Lowball

The same as California Lowball except that the Ace is only high, straights and flushes are not ignored and maintain their high ranking.

Jacks Back

Jacks Back is a 5 card jacks-or-better game. The game converts to lowball if no one opens the pot. If the game converts to lowball, the player immediately clockwise from the dealer button must automatically open the pot for the designated opening bet, and the game utilizes all California Lowball rules.

Texas Hold'em

Before the first hand is dealt in a new game each player draws a card to determine the "Theoretical Dealer". The player that draws the highest card 2-A by suit (C,D,H,S) starts with the Dealer Button, Ace of Spades being highest. The first and sometimes second player to the left of the Button are required to post a blind bet, the amount and number of blinds pre-determined by the players before starting the game. The house dealer then deals each player two cards as his initial hand. There is a round of betting after these cards have been dealt. Three board cards are turned simultaneously ("The Flop") and are community cards available to all players. Another round of betting takes place. After the final round of betting has been completed, a player may use any combination of five cards to determine his best hand. A player may use all of the board cards-this is termed, "playing the board". Check and raise is permitted. A bet and three raises are allowed. There is no limit on raises with only two players remaining during a betting round.

Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em except that the pot is split between the player with the highest and the player with the lowest poker hands. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand.

Tight Texas Hold'em

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em except that both of the player's cards must play and only three cards on the board may be used to determine the best poker hand.

Tight Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8

The rules are the same as for Tight Texas Hold'em except that the pot is split between the player with the highest and the player with the lowest poker hands. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand.

Pineapple

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8 except that each player receives three cards instead of two. After the initial round of betting each player still participating in the pot must discard one card before the flop.

Lazy Pineapple a.k.a. Tahoe Pineapple

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8 except that each player receives three cards instead of two. After the final round of betting each player still participating in the pot selects the best high and low hand using none, one or two of the three cards in his hand with the cards on the board.

Crazy Pineapple

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8 except that each player receives three cards instead of two. After the initial round of betting each player still participating in the pot must discard one card after the flop.

Super Hold'em

The rules are the same as for Texas Hold'em Hi Lo Split/8 except that each player receives three cards instead of two. All three cards may be used in determining the best high or low hand. The joker is always used in this game.

Omaha

Omaha is played with a standard 52-card deck; before the first hand is dealt in a new game each player draws a card to determine the "theoretical Dealer". The player that draws the highest card 2-A by suit (C,D,H,S) starts with the Dealer Button, Ace of Spades being highest. The first and sometimes second player to the left of the Button are required to post a blind bet, the amount and number of blinds pre-determined by the players before starting the game. The house dealer then deals each player four cards as his initial hand. There is a round of betting after these cards have been delivered. Three board-cards are then turned face up ("the flop") and another round of betting occurs. The next two board cards are turned one at a time with a round of betting after each one. These five board-cards are "community cards" and after the final round of betting has been completed, a player must use a combination of two cards from his hand and three cards from the board to determine the best hand. Check and raise is permitted. A bet and three raises are allowed.

Omaha/8 a.k.a. Omaha Hi Lo Split 8 or better

The rules are the same as for Omaha except that the pot is split between the player with the highest and the player with the lowest poker hands. In order to qualify for a low hand the highest of the five-card hand must be below a 9. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. Players may use one combination of cards to make a high hand and the same or any other combination to make a low hand, as long as each hand uses exactly two hole cards.

In "Player's Choice" games Omaha may be played with more than four cards and the joker may be added. The maximum number of cards each player receives cannot exceed the number of cards required to complete the deal, burn cards and flop minus one, i.e. 52 (or 53 with joker) minus five board cards, three burn cards and last card leaving 43 or 44 cards divided by the number of active players. All other Omaha rules apply.

CALIFORNIA GAMES

21st CENTURY "NO BUST" BLACKJACK

OBJECT: The object of the game is to form a hand whose sum does not exceed 21 points AND whose value is greater than the Player/Banker's hand. There is a hand, called a "Natural" that beats out a 21. This hand consists of either: Two Jokers; Two Aces or an Ace and a Joker. You do not bust if you go over 21.

PLAY: 21st Century Blackjack closely resembles Nevada Blackjack in terms of strategy and simplicity. The game uses a six deck shoe. Each deck has 52 cards and up to four "Jokers" depending on the game. Aces have a value of 1 or 11 while jokers count as 2 or 12. All cards are dealt face up except for the player/banker's "hole" card. Each player is dealt two cards and may "hit" (draw additional cards) to make their total card count as close to 21 as possible. Cards are dealt clockwise, starting from the first seat position, with the player/banker receiving his/her cards last. When all drawing is completed, the players hands are compared with that of the player/banker and bets are paid off to the extent money covers.

OPTIONS: Players also have the option of "splitting" pairs, "Doubling Down" and surrendering bets. When player has Joker-Joker they receive 2 to 1 odds to the extent that money covers.

Pai Gow Poker

Pai gow poker is played with a regular deck of 52 cards and one joker. All wagers must be made before the cards are dealt. The banker shakes the dice cup consisting of 3 dice. The banker position always counted a 1, 8, or 15. Based on the total dice count, and counting clockwise from the banker's position determines where the action starts. Once the dice cup is open, no more wagers may be placed, nor may a player touch the wager. AR wagers stay on the table until the hand is completely over. A collection win be taken for each wager.

The dealer deals out 7 piles of 7 cards each, face down in front of the dealer. The Banker selects one of the piles of cards with the Dealer will place the "Action7" button on top of that pile. This pile will be the first hand distributed and the first hand to receive action for the Banker counting clockwise.

Players must make a 2-card hand and a 5-card hand from the 7 cards received. The 5-card hand MUST rank higher than the 2-card hand. If the 2 card hand ranks higher than the 5 card hand, the hand is considered "fouled" and the wager is lost to the extent that money covers".

Both player's 2-card hand and 5-card hand must beat both of the Banker's hand in order to win. If one hand wins and the other loses it is considered a tie or 'push '. If a player has an identical hand to the banker, it is called a "copy" and the Banker wins all copies. All players and bankers may ask the dealer or floorperson to assist in the setting of the hands but the final decision is the responsibility of the player or banker. If the player wins the amount of the player's bet is taken from the bank and awarded to the player. If the Banker wins, the amount of the player's bet is taken from the bank and the player and awarded to the banker. This continues until all bets have been settled or the bank is depleted. In case of a tie there is no action for that player and the bank remains intact. Players not receiving action on their wagers do not win or lose, and receive a free collection for the next hand.

Name of game: Draw Poker (5 card) a.k.a. California Draw

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand, call the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a pre-determined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then place on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush. The best five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Draw Poker (5 Card) High-Low Split

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand, call the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a pre-determined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then place on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush. The best five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

The rules for High-Low Split are the same as California Draw except that the best high hand and the best low hand split the pot. The rules for low are the same as California Lowball. A low straight or flush can be counted both for the high and low ends of the pot.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: 5 Card Stud

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

5 Card Stud

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

High Limit/Pot Limit

2 or 3 players.	$5/$10 or higher.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.		$3.00
7 or more players....		$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt one card down then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player receives a second up card. On the second, third and fourth round the player with the highest exposed hand begins the action that continues to that players left. After each round of betting another up card is dealt. The final round of betting is when no player calls a bet or when each player still competing for the pot has 5 cards. At the conclusion of the betting the player that made the last bet and was called exposes the down card, each player in turn exposes their down card or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Poker a.k.a. 3-2-1-1 or 32 Eleven

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Poker

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 6 players$3.00
7 or more players....$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt three cards down one at a time. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player two additional card down at one time. Another round of betting occurs. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting the player that made the last bet and was called exposes mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best five card poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Stud

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Stud

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 6 players$3.00
7 or more players....$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each additional round of betting is initiated by the player with the highest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best five card poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split with joker

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used plus the joker.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Stud

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each additional round of betting is initiated by the player with the highest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best five card poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with any combination of five card of different ranks below nine with the ace being low and the joker if in play being the lowest card not in the hand. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands.

Joker -- If a joker is used in the game it is used as an Ace or to complete a straight or flush. The joker is only used in Player Choice games by the player choosing the game also choosing to have the joker in play.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Split

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Stud

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each additional round of betting is initiated by the player with the highest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best five card poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise , around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with any combination of five card of different ranks below nine with the ace being low and the joker if in play being the lowest card not in the hand. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Stud with Joker

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Stud

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each additional round of betting is initiated by the player with the highest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best five card poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Joker – If a joker is used in the game it is used as an Ace or to complete a straight or flush. The joker is only used in Player Choice games by the player choosing the game also choosing to have the joker in play.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Seven Card Stud Hi Lo Sweepers

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used plus the joker.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Stud - Sweepers

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each additional round of betting is initiated by the player with the highest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. This game is the same as seven card stud hi lo split except that if a player has a jack high straight or better in order to qualify for a low hand the highest of the five low card must be below a 9 with no pairs. If a player has an eight or better low hand the high hand must be a jack high straight or better, else the low hand sweeps the entire pot. California Lowball rules apply when determining the low hand. In the case of structured betting the option for the higher limit does not apply on the second round. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Joker – A joker is used in the game it is used as an Ace or to complete a straight or flush.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Razz a.k.a. Seven-Card Stud Low only

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Seven Card Razz

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards down one at a time, then one card up. The betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. When the betting is complete each player is dealt one additional card up. Each subsequent round of betting is initiated by the player with the lowest cards showing. The second round of betting occurs in a limit game the lower limit us used on the first two round of betting and the higher limit is used on the last three rounds. Each player is dealt one additional card (the fifth), followed by a round of betting. Each player is dealt one additional card (the sixth), followed by a round of betting. The final card (#7) is dealt to each active player a followed by the final round of betting. At the conclusion of the betting starting with the player that made the last bet and was called exposes all seven cards or mucks (surrenders) the hand.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best lowest five card poker hand is awarded the pot. Straights and flushes are not considered.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Lowball (A to 5 Draw) a.k.a. California Lowball

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players.	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Dealing and betting structures are the same as in 5-card draw except that the pot is awarded to the player with the lowest poker hand. A player with a seven or better must bet the hand in turn or forfeit all after the draw action. Check and raise is not permitted. Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button. The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand call the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a pre-determined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then place on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. A joker is used either as the lowest card not in the hand any card that completes a straight or flush. The lowest five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot flushes and straights do are not considered. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card lowball hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best lowball hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Lowball (2-7 Draw) a.k.a. Kansas City Lowball

The same as California Lowball except that the Ace is only high, straights and flushes are not ignored and maintain their high ranking.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 5 players.$3.00
6 or more players....$4.00

Pot Limit Low Ball/Draw

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 5 players.$3.00
6 or more players....$4.00

The deal: Dealing and betting structures are the same as in 5-card draw except that the pot is awarded to the player with the lowest poker hand. A player with a seven or better must bet the hand in turn or forfeit all after the draw action. Check and raise is not permitted. Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button. The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand call the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a pre-determined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then place on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. The lowest five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot flushes and straights are considered as high. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card lowball hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best lowball hand is awarded the pot. The best possible hand is 2, 3, 4, 5, 7.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Jacks Back

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Jacks Back

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Jacks Back

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 5 players	$3.00
6 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: The house dealer then deals each player 5 down-cards as the initial hand, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. Then in order starting with the player to the left of the blind bets may fold (surrender) his hand, or open the hand if it contains a pair of Jacks or better by calling the amount of the bet or raise the bet a minimum of the amount of the largest blind bet up to a pre-determined limit or in the case of a no limit game up to the amount of chips and or cash the betting player has on the table. If no player opens then the game reverts to Lowball. Each player in turn may fold, call or raise. If the previous bet was more than the amount a player has the player may call with the chips and or cash available and declare "all-in". Additional amounts and bets are then place on the side. After the betting is complete the players discard any cards they wish to replace, and draw new cards from the dealer. A final round of betting is made, starting with the player to the left of the dealer button. A bet and three raises are allowed. No limit to the number of raises when there are only two players competing for the pot. The dealer button moves after each hand. A joker is used either as an ace or as any card that completes a straight or flush. The best five card poker hand determines the winner of the pot. In the case of side pots a player can only win the pots he has contributed to. If the player with the best hand was all in then the next best poker hand determines the side pots.

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: A dollar is placed on the dealer button and the next two player post a small and large blind. The amount of the small and large blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. see Fee Collection below.

Fee Collection: All collections are taken from the pot after the flop or after the first betting round.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players.....	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

Pot Limit Hold'em

2 or 3 players.....	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards starting with the first position left of the dealer button then the betting begins. The player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls, there was no action, no gambling occurred there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances, the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three cards from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active players to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting, during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em - w/Joker

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Joker – A joker is used in the game as an Ace or to complete a straight or flush and/or the lowest card not in hand to complete a low.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

Pot Limit Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards starting with the first position left of the dealer button then the betting begins. The player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls, there was no action, no gambling occurred there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances, the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three cards from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active players to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting, during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em - High Low Split

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

Pot Limit Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards starting with the first position left of the dealer button then the betting begins. The player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls, there was no action, no gambling occurred there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances, the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three cards from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active players to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with any combination of five card of different ranks below nine with the ace being low and the joker if in play being the lowest card not in the hand. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em - High Low Split w/Joker

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used plus the joker.

Joker – A joker is used in the game as an Ace or to complete a straight or flush and/or the lowest card not in hand to complete a low.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

High Limit/Pot Limit

2 or 3 players	$5/$10 or higher	$2.00
4 to 6 players		$3.00
7 or more players		$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards then the betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three card from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active player to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up by combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with any combination of five card of different ranks below nine with the ace being low and the joker being the lowest card not in the hand. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em – Tight Hold'em

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

Pot Limit Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards then the betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three card from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active player to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up by combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

The difference between Tight Texas Hold'em and Regular Texas Hold'em is that both hole cards must be used and exactly three cards from the board. Example: Player #1 holds K♥Q♠ and player #2 holds Q♦J♣ the board is A♥Q♥4♥4♦9♥ in regular Hold'em player #1 would have a flush consisting of A♥Q♥4♥9♥ and the K♥ in his hand but in Tight Hold'em the hand is Q♥4♥4♦ plus the K♥Q♠ and player #2 is Q♥4♥4♦ plus the Q♦J♣, player #1 wins because the K♥ beats the J♣, the A♥ is not considered in determining the hand.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Texas Hold'em - Tight - High Low Split

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

Pot Limit Texas Hold'em

2 or 3 players	$2.00
4 to 6 players	$3.00
7 or more players	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt two cards then the betting begins, the player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls the there was no action and no gambling there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three card from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active player to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player with cards face up by combined with the players cards and the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

The difference between Tight Texas Hold'em and Regular Texas Hold'em is that both hole cards must be used and exactly three cards from the board. Example: Player #1 holds K♥Q♠ and player #2 holds Q♦J♠ the board is A♥Q♥4♥4♦9♥ in regular Hold'em player #1 would have a flush consisting of A♥Q♥4♥9♥ and the K♥ in his hand but in Tight Hold'em the hand is Q♥4♥4♦ plus the K♥Q♠ and player #2 is Q♥4♥4♦ plus the Q♦J♠, player #1 wins because the K♥ beats the J♠, the A♥ is not considered in determining the hand.

In the event of a tie i.e. more that one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with a combination of five card of different ranks below nine with the ace being low and the joker if in play being the lowest card not in the hand. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands. Both hole cards and exactly three from the board are used to determine the Low as well as the High Hand in Tight Hold'em.

Name of game: Omaha

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Omaha

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

Pot Limit Omaha

2 or 3 players.	$2.00
4 to 6 players.	$3.00
7 or more players....	$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt four cards starting with the first position left of the dealer button then the betting begins. The player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls, there was no action, no gambling occurred there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances, the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three cards from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active players to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player using exactly two cards from the players hand with exactly three from the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting, during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

Name of game: Omaha Hi-Low Split 8 or better (Omaha/8)

Before play starts the dealer spreads the cards face down after shuffling. Each of the seated players picks a card. The player that picks the highest ranking card A, K, Q, J, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 by suit S, H, D, C is awarded the player/dealer button.

Deck: A standard 52 card deck is used.

Blinds: The first player to the left of the dealer button is required to post a blind bet. The amount of the first blind will vary from game to game depending on limits and structure. All blinds are placed in order from the left of the button and are left in the pot, see Fee Collection below.

COLLECTION RATES:

Omaha

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 6 players.$3.00
7 or more players....$4.00

Pot Limit Omaha

2 or 3 players.$2.00
4 to 6 players.$3.00
7 or more players....$4.00

The deal: Each player is dealt four cards starting with the first position left of the dealer button then the betting begins. The player to the left of the big blind has first action and may call the amount of the blind, raise by betting the amount of the small blind plus the amount of the lower limit of the game or decline to participate in the hand by laying his cards face down and pushing the toward the dealer (fold). Each player in turn has the option of calling by posting the amount of the previous bet, raising by posting the amount of the previous bet plus the amount of the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises for each of the betting rounds unless the betting round started with two players, then there is no limit on the number of raises. If there is only one blind and no player calls, there was no action, no gambling occurred there was not a hand of poker played the dealer button advances, the player that had posted the blind keeps the chips. After all players have acted in turn the dealer removes the top card and places it face down on the table, then places the next three cards from the top of the deck face up on the table. The next betting round begins by the first player to the left of the dealer button betting the lower limit of the game or "checking" (declining to bet by saying check or indicating a check by signaling the dealer the he/she does not wish to bet. Each player in turn may "call" the previous bet by checking if all active players to his right have checked, bet the amount of the lower limit or the amount of the previous bet on that round, fold or raise by calling the amount of the previous bet plus the lower limit of the game. There is a limit of three raises in each round. After all active players have acted in turn the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" the top card on the deck by placing it face down on the table then removes the next card from the top of the deck and places it face up in line with the previous three cards from the last betting round. Another round of betting occurs with the player to the left of the dealer button checking or betting the higher limit of the game. Each player to his left has the option of betting, raising or folding in turn. After action is complete on this round the dealer taps the table to indicate action complete "burns" and turns another card so that there are five cards face up on the table. Beginning with the player to the left of the button each player acts with the same options of the previous round. At this point there are five cards face up on the table the five cards are referred to as the "board".

Winning event: As soon as the action is complete on the final round each player in turn starting from the last player to bet or raise on that round turns his/her cards face up on the table or folds the hand by placing them face down toward the dealer. The dealer will determine the best five card poker hand for each player using exactly two cards from the player's hand with exactly three from the "board" or community cards that were placed face up on the table. The player with the best poker hand is awarded the pot.

In the event of a tie i.e. more than one player has the same best hand, the chips are split evenly between the winning players. If there is a qualifying low hand the chips are divided into two equal pots in case of an odd number of chips the extra chip is part of the high side. If there are an odd number of chips the extra chips are awarded to the player or players starting to the left of the dealer button and continuing clockwise around the table.

High/Low Split The game is played as a high/low game. The low is determined by the lowest hand with any combination of five cards of different ranks below nine with the ace being low. Straights and or flushes are not considered when determining low hands.

Pot Limit - In pot-limit betting, during the first round the amount of the first bet can be the amount of the highest blind or raise two times the highest blind. Subsequent bets and/or raises can be up to the total of the pot and all bets made to that point during the round of betting.

No Bust 21 Century Black-Jack

DESCRIPTION

- 21st Century Blackjack is dealt from shoes containing a minimum of four and a maximum of eight decks of standard playing cards(52 plus one joker).
- The Player's objective is to form a hand that does not exceed Natural 22.
- All Players and the Designated Players cards will be dealt face up.
Exception: double down.
- All number cards have face value.
- All face cards have a value of 10.
- Aces have a value of 1 or 11.
- Jokers are wild. A joker with any card is a hard 21. Player may not draw further.
- A natural hand beats all other hands. A natural consists of:
 - ♠ Two jokers (Pays 2 to 1)

METHOD OF PLAY

- Players make a bet, and post the proper collection.
- Each Player will receive two cards on the initial deal.
- Players have the option to draw additional cards.
- The value of each hand is the sum of its cards.
- All Players hands are compared to the Designated Player hand.
- If a player's total is more than a natural and the Designated Player's total is a natural or the less, the DESIGNATED PLAYER WINS.
- If a Player's total is a natural or less and the Designated Player's total is more than a natural, the PLAYER WINS.
- If the Player and the Designated Player's total is above a natural:
If the Designated Player is closer to a natural, DESIGNATED PLAYER WINS.
- If the Player is closer to a "Natural", it is a PUSH.
- DESIGNATED PLAYER WINS all ties over a natural.
- If the Player and the Designated Player's total is below a natural, the hand closest to a "Natural" wins.
- If the Player and the Designated Player are tied on a natural or less, it is a PUSH.
- If the Designated Player's first card is a joker, there is no draw or surrender.
- All payoffs to the extent that money covers.

Pai Gow Poker

Pai Gow Poker is played with a standard 52-card deck plus one joker. The joker can be used as an ace, or to complete a straight, flush, or a straight flush. Pai Gow Poker can be played by up to seven players.

The game requires a player/dealer and all hands are compared to the player/dealer's hand. Before the deal, each of the players posts a wager. The dealer stacks seven piles of seven cards, one card at a time, and the remaining four cards are discarded. The player/dealer selects a pile of cards to start the distribution. The player/dealer then shakes three dice in a dice cup and counts around the positions at the table counter-clockwise. Counting from the player/dealer position, the sum of the dice determines who receives the first hand and where the action begins. The remaining hands go to the other players in counter-clockwise rotation. If the position is vacant, the hand is discarded.

All players except the player/dealer look at their cards and form two hands, a two-card front hand and a five-card back hand. Standard poker rankings apply with five aces beating a royal flush. For the two-card hand, any pair beats any two unmatched cards, but straights and flushes don't apply.

The player must arrange the cards so that the five-card hand ranks higher than the two-card hand. Otherwise, the hand is fouled and the player loses automatically. After all players have placed their two hands face down, the player/dealer's seven cards are set.

Beginning with the action button, all the players' cards are exposed and compared to the player/dealer's hand. The result between the player/dealer and each player is determined by comparing the player's five-card hand with the player/dealer's five-card hand and the player's two-card hand with the player/dealer's two-card hand.

1. If the player wins both hands, the player/dealer pays out the amount wagered.
2. If the player/dealer wins one hand and the player wins the other (push), no money is exchanged.
3. If the player/dealer wins both hands, the player/dealer wins the player's wager.
4. If the player and the player/dealer have the same hand(s), the player/dealer wins.